Description:

Review Enthralling. Through These Veins doesn't just call plants by their names; it sings their praises. There is no better case for conservation than this vivid account of how our wellbeing is so intertwined with the secret lives of plants. --Calestous Juma, Director, of Science, Technology, and Globalization Project at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government, and former Executive Secretary of the UN Convention on Biological Diversity

A real pleasure. Very dramatic with a wide range of vivid descriptions and an important reminder of the relationship between science and nature. --Warren Olney, Host of Public Radio International's To The Point

About the Author Anne Marie Ruff Grewal has reported on AIDS research, drug development, biodiversity conservation, and agriculture from Southeast Asia, the Middle East and East Africa. Her work has been broadcast by National Public Radio, Public Radio International, the British Broadcasting Corporation and PBS TV. Her articles have appeared in Time, Christian Science Monitor and Saveur among other publications. A Minnesota native, Anne Marie lives in Los Angeles with her husband and their two sons.
