Description:

Review David Bach "New York Times" bestselling author of "The Automatic Millionaire" Nobody called the nineties boom and bubble like Harry Dent, and now he is calling for another unexpected bull market. All investors should take notice.

From the Inside Flap Harry S. Dent has been among the most successful forecasters of his time: His books The Great Boom Ahead and The Roaring 2000s predicted the 1990s boom ahead of anyone else.

In this new, provocative look at the coming years, Dent again casts his discerning contrarian eye on what he sees as the good times to come—and the woes to follow. Among his key predictions:

□ A third and final bubble takes the Dow to 35,000 to 40,000 and the Nasdaq to 13,000 by late 2009 or early 2010.

□ A second technology boom brings cellular, Internet, and broadband connections to 90% of U.S. households by 2009.

□ Inflation falls into early 2006 and rises mildly into 2009; then we see deflation between 2010 and 2023.

□ Another devastating crash occurs between 2010 and 2012, which ushers in a thirteen-year bear market into 2022.

□ Technology, financial services, health care, and Asia will be the best sectors from 2005 to 2009. Long-term bonds, health care, and Asia will be the best after 2009.
